"Trust yourself. You know more than you think you do.” - Benjamin Spock, M.D.

CONNECT WITH THE HEALING POWER OF NATURE

During these unusual times, self-care through exercise, mindfulness and connecting with nature is especially important. This is a simple mindfulness practice that you can do during a walk in your neighborhood, your yard, or even simply looking out a window at a favorite tree.

During your practice, pause occasionally and take a moment to find a comfortable place to sit or stand. Take a few deep breaths and allow yourself to reflect upon this week’s theme of trust. You might journal or sketch if you like.

WHILE ON YOUR STROLL

Remember that awareness comes through your physical senses (touch, taste, smell, sight, hearing), internal senses (what’s happening within your body), intuitive senses and emotional senses.

1. CAN YOU SENSE a being (or beings) in the natural world as a friend? What does this friend’s presence mean to you?”

2. CAN YOU FEEL the changing of the season? How do you sense these changes affecting you and your forest friend?

3. HOW IS nature supporting you today?

This activity is based on the Strolls for Well-Being — a free community program offered by Bloedel Reserve to promote overall well-being through connection with nature. For more information, visit bloedelreserve.org.

Bloedel Reserve is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, maintained and nurtured through generous community support.